

Before the house was remodeled in 1951, I recall this stone being in the foundation on the west corner at the north side. The foundation was a shallow, perhaps 2-3 feet deep, wall of the thin brown stones most evident near our creek and hillside of the Spring house.

